

News

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

November 22, 2011

CONTACT:

Carrie McDowell, Membership Services Specialist

carrie@libertycounty.org

(912) 368-4445

HINESVILLE, GA. – Jeff’s Candy Kitchen and Bake Shoppe hosted a grand opening/ribbon cutting celebration in conjunction with the Liberty County Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, November 22nd. The event was held at the new store, which is located at 112 South Commerce Street in downtown Hinesville. This event was held as a Grand Opening for the new addition to the downtown Hinesville community. Owner, Jeff Davis, welcomed family, elected city officials, customers, chamber staff, ambassadors, members and people from the community to this event.

“I think I gave out about thirty pounds of chocolate to friends and family last year, that is when I decided to make this passion profitable,” Davis said. He went on to share his love for creating new candy combinations, with the help of his wife, Vicki Davis. Jeff began his journey some twenty years ago by making chocolate candy to fulfill his niece’s request.

Jeff’s Candy Kitchen and Bake Shoppe offers handmade specialty confections made on site using quality all natural ingredients. In addition to their specialty confections, Jeff has started a line of flavored syrups that can be added to your favorite beverage or recipe.

“I enjoy having a candy shop right around the corner, although I visit all too frequently,” joked Hinesville’s Mayor Jim Thomas. He went on to commend Jeff’s Candy Kitchen and Bake Shoppe for their community support, focusing on their contributions within the downtown Hinesville business district.

The shop is currently accepting special orders for the holiday season; contact them as soon as possible to book your orders. Some of their creative product offerings include: “My Favorite Brownies”, “The Nutty Blonde Brownie”, caramels, assorted hand-rolled truffles, crazy good caramel corn, toffee, fudge, caramel apples, chocolate nut clusters and more. They can be found on Facebook at “JeffsConfections”, or call them at (912) 877-0700.

“We welcome you to the Chamber, we are here for you and support your new business,” said Leah Poole, Executive Director of the Liberty County Chamber of Commerce.

Those in attendance enjoyed a sampling of chocolate pasta with chocolate-enhanced turkey meatballs and chili infused with hints of chocolate. Also available for taste-testing were varieties of popcorn, including Jeff’s new Cherry Popcorn. Hot chocolate and coffee was served to be sampled with their syrup flavors.

Established in 1976, the Liberty County Chamber of Commerce’s mission is to support new and existing business, trade and industry within Liberty County, while increasing the cultural, civic, educational and overall quality of life of its citizens. The Chamber and its’ 442 members are committed to enhancing the local business climate and maintaining a high quality of life in the community.

Picture Caption: City Elected Officials, Board Members, Ambassadors, Chamber Staff, Chamber Members, Community Members, and Jeff Davis with family and friends.